

Steven M. Bucher, Associate

Overview

Steven represents companies of all shapes and sizes in civil litigation and transactional matters. His litigation practice focuses on workers' compensation, insurance defense, IT professional liability, information security, and commercial disputes. His transactional practice focuses on tech-related business matters, such as cybersecurity and e-commerce.

He is a Certified Information Privacy Professional/U.S. and a member of several organizations that concentrate on the intersection between technology and the law. He also regularly writes and presents on tech-related legal issues.

Before joining the Firm, he served as an assistant attorney general in the Litigation Division of the Louisiana Department of Justice. He also worked for the Speaker of the Pennsylvania House of Representatives and a regional lobbying firm that focused on professional licensing and technologies legislation.
